Japanese Matmen Give Wonderful Exhibition

Bouts Last Evening at Rink Filled With Thrills Throughout—Umegatani Appears in Feature Match of Evening, Winning From Heavy Opponent—Man in Crowd Gives Money to Umegatani—First Experience in History—Edozakura Gets Peevish

If old Billy Jordan, the famous announcer, had been present last evening at the Fort street skating rink he would have bowed his head in shame. The famous Billy is some announcer. Furthermore, he has been the pick of the bunch for years on the mainland; but Billy would look like a whitey along side of the Grand Official of the Japanese Wrestling Association who started the Japanese wrestling on last night. Said announcer would take in a hitch in his belt, draw a deep breath, and proceed to draw the names of the wrestlers. It sounded like a machine, and the aforementioned crier was much applauded.

About 4000 people gathered at the rink last evening to watch the first exhibition given by the wrestlers from the Japanese Wrestling Association of Osaka, Japan. The match started in some time around 8 o'clock and proceeded for nearly an hour. The 28 bouts were decided in a matter of time for the day. When the matches were started it was much work from start to finish, and more than a dozen matches were run off in addition to a number of exhibitions.

When the wrestlers entered the ring they bowed, stamped their feet, took a drink of water, grabbed some salt and then started to call each other names in Japanese.

Some times they got started on all fours, but other times they decided to start on their feet. The matches were decided in a matter of time for the day. ## BOAT CLUBS TO STAGE 'JINKS' TOMORROW NIGHT

There will be much merriment along the waterfront on Saturday evening. There will be singing, dancing and lectures that will make the hearts of all fill with joy, as they say in rowing circles, for on that night the Healan and Myrtle boat clubs will celebrate their victories in fine fashion. A big majority of the young men of the city will be going harborward tomorrow evening if the conversation around town may be believed.

At the Healan Boat Club the members and guests will be entertained with songs, instrumental selections and a boxing match which they say will be a big feature of the evening. Two young warriors who have had considerable experience with the padded gloves will stage a real bout for the edification of the members. The names of the two contestants have not been announced as yet, but Fackey and Mito Gibbons won't have a thing on them if we may take the word of the official matchmaker.

At 7:30 the members will gather around the lanai where the tables will be placed, and all will be treated to a real chowder feed. This chowder is claimed to be the best and richest ever secured in many years, and the hungry members will be taken care of and a second "helpin'" given to all who desire to continue the gastronomic exercises.

The Myrtle will gather at 8 o'clock sharp and will receive a supper prepared especially for hungry men. They will have music, glee club selections, and the banner event of the evening will be a hula dance by two expert dancers. William Hampton will render a few solos, Prof. Caeceres will entertain at the piano, and Alapai Smith is scheduled for ukulele solo. Judge Robertson at Myrtle's.

Judge A. G. M. Robertson will preside at the meeting and will present the trophies to the club. Judge Robertson is a charter member of the club and has always been a worker, and will tell of the early history of the Myrtle and compare it with the present. All members are requested to be present, as a good time awaits all who gather at the club house tomorrow night.

Notes of the Detroit Tournament.
Max Marston's regular caddy is a sort of free lance, who has developed a habit of turning up nearly everywhere that Marston plays. His home is in New York, and he is a genuine Scotchman, born in Glasgow.

During the progress of the tourney a new fee was built at the twelfth, lengthening and improving what was not an especially good hole.

Ned Sawyer began his golfing career as a caddy at Wheaton, which may well be called the cradle of Chicago golf.

Max Marston will never forget the little putt which he missed on the home hole in the semi-final round. It was such a short putt that Bob Gardner was all ready to shake hands, and probably would have conceded it if it had come at any other stage of the match.

It is hard for Tom Sherman to understand how he came to lose to Gardner in the second round. Sherman played great golf, but everything, including the luck, was against him. What worried him most was the fate that befell him on the sixth, seventh and eighth holes in the morning.

The sixth he was stymied, on the seventh Gardner won the hole in 1 to 2, and on the eighth another style dropped up.

Eben M. Byers is a keen photographer of golfing scenes. He keeps a set of albums at home, one for each year, and has a splendid collection of photographs. So interested did he become in taking pictures of the Sawyer-Evans match that the committee had to send a boy after him to get him to the first tee for his own match against Howard Lee.

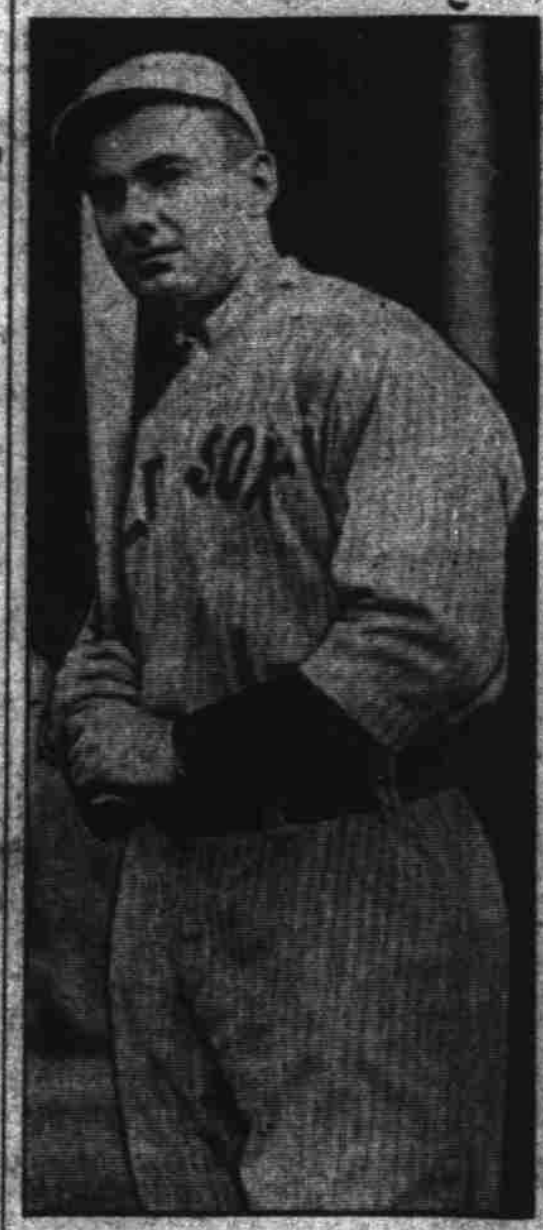

The long driving Jesse Guilford couldn't keep on the course during his match with Max Marston. On the last hole of the match, the sixteenth, Guilford managed to hit one straight, whereupon Marston outdrove him by a yard of two.

Sawyer played a great many fine shots while engaged in beating Evans, but the best of them was his approach at the tenth in the afternoon. It was a high pitched ball that dropped squarely on the green not more than a yard from the cup. The ball did not move more than a foot after it hit the ground.

Dudley Mudge dropped from sight soon after his elevation to the pinnacle of fame, but his feat of winning the medal will not be forgotten. Incidentally he was one of the group of golfers who made 85 in the preliminary qualifying round and just squeezed in.

High over the pavilion in which the U. S. G. A. officials were sealed flew a red flag with U. S. G. A. on it in white letters. It is only one of the

'A Local Favorite' NEW SCHEDULE GIVES COLLEGE FOUR CONTESTS

"Duffy" Lewis, one of the real stars of the Boston Red Sox, who is expected to play an important part in deciding the world's series, Lewis is well known in Honolulu; having played here with the All-Americans last December. During the series of games here he hit for an average of .368, and his record this season is also high, being over the 300 mark. Lewis with Speaker and Hooper should startle the spectators with their work this year, as they have gained much in experience since the season of 1912.

PUNAHOU SECOND TEAM WILL PLAY HONOLULU ALL-STAR TOMORROW

Punahou second team will open the football season locally in a game with the Honolulu Juniors Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. at Alexander Field. Although the men at Punahou have only been working in scrimmage a few days, Coach Midkiff will try out a number of men, and give them all a test before the opening games of the year. A number of new men will be tried out against the local juniors, and according to the players on the town team, they will have a thorough try-out. Many of the players on the junior team have played with the school teams in the city, and Captain Leal states that he will make it interesting for the Punahou aggregation. The line-up:

Regarding the huge stands which are being built. Are they getting them too big? Are spectators too far away, and is there as a result too much aloofness between player and patron, too much formality and keeping one's distance with a drying out of the closer relationships and friendly familiarity between fan and player which did much to sustain local interest?

Many new wrinkles contributed to the championship by the Detroit golfers. Another feature that has not been seen at previous national tourneys is a practise driving ground on the scale of the one here. A big field has been mown and along the edge of it are about 14 small tee boxes which look like a row of beehives. Fifteen golfers practising driving at the same time make a rather novel sight.

Many Swimming Marks Lowered This Season

Duke Kahanamoku, Ludy Langer and Bud Goodwin Hold Lighthouse in Great Water Sport—Seven Swimming Records are Smashed During Year By Speed Merchants—Ludy Langer of Los Angeles Breaks Many Marks Made By Former Stars

Practically every national swimming record for a standard event has been bettered this season, and not a few of the new marks will find acceptance as world's figures when submitted to the International Federation of Swimmers. Duke Kahanamoku, the local pride, has gained the sprinting honors. At the Panama-Pacific Exposition water carnival in July he covered 100 yards in 0:54 2-5, and 220 yards in 2:26 2-5—the fastest time ever made for these distances in a 75-yard pool, or under conditions similar to those in the Sutro Baths, San Francisco, where the championship meet was held.

Ludy Langer Leads. Over courses beyond the furling Ludy Langer of the Los Angeles Athletic Club made a clean sweep of the records. In the Sutro Baths he covered 500 yards in 6:13 4-5, clipping McGillivray's former American mark, made under more advantageous conditions, by 16 4-5 seconds, and setting a new world's standard. Outdoors, over an open-water stretch, across tide, he lowered Kahanamoku's national 400-yard time from 5:37 4-5 to 5:32 1-5. C. M. Daniels' 850-yard figure from 13:18 2-5 to 12:09, and Bud Goodwin's one-mile mark from 25:18 3-5 to 24:59 2-5.

Herbert Vollmer of the N. Y. A. C. bettered his own 1000-yard mark in the Steeplechase pool at Coney Island from 14:13 to 13:58 3-5. Locals Set Mark. The invincible team of the Illinois Athletic Club, Harry Hebecker, Perry McGillivray, Arthur Rathel and William Vosburgh, made a relay record at the exposition. This quartet first brought down the 300-yard world's figures from 2:44 3-5 to 2:40 1-5 in a dead heat with four Honolulu sprinters headed by Kahanamoku, then defeated the latter in the swim-off and improved the time to 2:42 3-5.

The breast stroke work was well attended to by Michael McHermott of the Illinois Athletic Club. He won the 200-yard championship at the exposition in 2:49 2-5 seconds, taking two-fifths of a second from the old standard, of his own making. Bud Goodwin of the New York Athletic Club set a record of 1 hour 42 minutes 33 2-5 seconds in piloting the three-mile national title, in the Yacht Harbor, San Francisco, but there seems to be some doubt of the actual length of the course, and this may cause the mark to be discarded when it comes up for inspection.

FIVE BOYS' CLUBS OF Y. M. C. A. WILL START ATHLETIC WORK SOON

The boys' clubs of the intercollegiate department of the Y. M. C. A. will begin their athletic season on Saturday evening, when they will hold their first basketball practice of the year. They will also engage in water sports, including diving and racing for the first four weeks, then the regular season for basketball play will open with games between the teams.

A number of the boys are back from last year's teams, and the clubs are looking forward to a successful season. Among the players who will be out on the floor this year are David Bent and Sam Kahalewai of the Knights of Kamehameha, Methvin and Lanquett of the Double X Club, W. Serrao, A. Serrao and F. Rodrigues of the El Globos, Percy Bull and Andrew Boyd of the "Get Ready" Club, and Kai Luke and Kong Tai of the Washington Club.
